SHARKS BOTHER HERRING FLEET.

Herring fishermen are having their troubles with sharks off the Cape Elizabeth lightship and several seines have been greatly damaged during the past few days. The herring fishing boat Dorothy D., commanded by Capt. Allen Drinkwater, came into Portland Wednesday and in the deck of the boat was a shark measuring 12 feet in length and weighing about 600 pounds, which had been killed on the fishing grounds off the Cape Elizabeth lightship.

Capt. Drinkwater said that the shark brought into port had chased the herring into the large seine and that the big fish put up a lively fight for several minutes before a large boat hook was used to kill the monster. The shark tore several holes in the seine used by the men on board the Dorothy D., and the crew had about two hours' work before the seine was repaired.

"The sharks are giving us a lot of trouble," said Capt. Drinkwater, "and there seem to be more of the undesirable fish than ever before. We saw one large shark, which was fully 25 feet long and fired a charge of buckshot into the brute as it appeared above water. We have seen a number of whales and while one came up within a short distance of our boat it did not bother us."

Skippers of other boats engaged in herring fishing say that they have seen immense sharks off the lightship and while the sharks are not of the man-eating species the fishermen believe that the big fellows would not hesitate to grab a man if he should happen to tumble overboard.

GOT FISH OFF THE LIGHTSHIP.

SCH EFFIE M. PRIOR AT NEWPORT WITH 7000 LARGE FRESH MACKEREL.

The first seining haul of the mackerel fleet now to the southward was made by sch. Effie M. Prior, Capt. Elroy Prior, which landed 7000 large fresh mackerel at Newport yesterday.

Capt. Prior secured his fare 20 miles northwest of South Shoal lightship. The fish were iced and shipped to Boston.

Several of the netters were at Newport yesterday with trips of 1000 and 2000 fresh mackerel in count. They were as follows:

Sch. Tecumseh, 2000 fresh mackerel.
Sch. Sylvester, 1000 fresh mackerel.
Sch. N. A. Rowe, 1000 fresh mackerel.

Sch. Woodan, 1000 fresh mackerel. Yesterday forenoon the sch. Two Brothers was at Boston with 300 large fresh mackerel, 100 mediums and five barrels of butter fish. The large fish sold at 27 cents apiece and the mediums at 16 cents.

Small Fare

A small fresh fare was landed here this morning by sch. Manomet. The craft had 150 fish in count which sold to the Gloucester Fresh Fish Co at 25 cents apiece.

Sch. Shenandoah, Capt. Jas. Gannon is in here with 50 barrels of salt mackerel taken down on the Cape Shore.

The total catch of the Cape Shore fleet to date yesterday was 1442 barrels of salt and 684 barrels of fresh mackerel.

The utter failure of the mackerel fishery thus far this season may be gathered from the fact that the total catch of fresh mackerel has been but 8155 barrels to date, against 25,879 barrels for the same period in 1911.

The salt mackerel fare of sch. Romance sold to George Perkins & Son at $11 a barrel.

OLD GRIZZLED FISHERMEN.

PORTLAND HAD A GLIMPSE OF SOME OLD TIMERS ON SCH. MATTIE WINSHIP.

Real old time, grizzled fishermen arrived here Thursday noon with the Gloucester halibut catcher, Mattie Winship arrived with a crew of the flat fish, says the Portland Press. There have been other hard liners in this port before, many of them, but never in recent years has there been such a crew of old time fishermen as arrived on this trim old craft.

Hand liners are rapidly passing away. There are still many of the fishermen who know no other way of fishing and many of these formed the crew of the Winship. Tall rugged old men they were, mostly with short cropped gray beards, but looking in the best of health. They were dressed in full oil skins as they stood about the wharf and no better picture of the old days of fishing has ever been presented than this.

As the halibut were hauled from the hold, they were recognized by the men who had put their marks on them. "My fish," they would mutter as they looked at the peculiar knife marks on head or tail.

Capt. J. F. Critchett of the Mattie Winship is an old time fisherman himself. A more jovial soul never entered port. But for all he has been fishing for years, he said that never before had he seen so many herring as he noticed on Georges banks this trip. "They were everywhere," he told a Press reporter. "The water was alive with them. Good, medium size fish they were, just right for bait. I never saw such a sight. Herring—don't say herring to me."

The Winship was out two weeks on her trip and landed 6000 pounds of halibut. She also had 9000 pounds of salt fish.

IT LOOKS BRIGHTER FOR MACKEREL.

Four Fares at Newport and Two Bound to Boston.

Things are looking brighter for the mackerel. The fleet, or some of them at least, have struck fish out to the southward and four trips have arrived at Newport since Sunday morning, while two more are believed to be on the way to Boston.

Yesterday sch. Marguerite Haskins, Capt. Reuben Cameron and steamer Lois J. Corkum, Capt. William J. Corkum, arrived at Newport, each hailing for 200 barrels of fresh mackerel, about all large fish.

This morning schs. Stilletto, Capt. Lewis Carritt and sch. Effie M. Prior, Capt. Elroy Prior, arrived at Newport, the former with 7000 and the latter with 5000 large fresh mackerel. These two fares were taken 55 miles southeast of Noman's Land.

The skippers report that schs. Monarch, Capt. John F. Vautier and Aloha, Capt. Wallace Parsons, were there and made good hauls and they think they kept off and went to Boston to market their catches.

Large mackerel are reported bringing 24 and 25 cents each at Newport yesterday.

Sloop Lear C., Capt. Corea of Provincetown, arrived home from New York a week ago last Saturday. Capt.

Cora and crew are high line of the Provincetown drift net mackerel fleet. They landed one lot of 3000 fish which netted $900. In four weeks they stocked $1800, the four men sharing $200 each.

The biggest single haul of mackerel made in the vicinity of Portland this season was landed Thursday night at Harpswell by Bernard Johnson at his traps at Harpswell. In all there were 2200 pounds of the fish, and they ran large for the most part. The whole fare was brought to Portland and sold to J. W. Trefethen. As a result, Johnson realized more than $200 for one night's catch.

Sch. Nellie Dixon and Miranda were at Shelburne, N. S., last Friday, on their way to this port, from the Cape Shore. The Nellie Dixon had 70 barrels and the Miranda 20 bbls. They reported weather bad, foggy and windy.

Netters at Newport.

The following netters are at Newport today:

Sloop Sylvester, 1000 large fresh mackerel.

Sloop Wodan, 1000 large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Fitz A. Oakes, 1000 large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Cherokee, 600 large fresh mackerel.

Willard Company and the schooner will proceed to Gloucester with the balance of her fare. The skipper reports any quantity of dogfish in the vicinity of LeHave, where part of the catch was made.

New Fish Concern.

The Cape Cod Products Company, a new corporation dealing in fish, has filed its charter in Illinois as a Massachusetts corporation with a capital stock of $500,000. F. Clarke of Chicago is the western representative.

HAD TO BURY THE DEAD FISH.

Owing to the great abundance of whiting caught a week ago last Saturday at Provincetown, many barrels of the fish were thrown away owing to the inability of the cold storages and packers to handle the catch. Sunday the wind blew on shore and the great mass of fish lined the shore front, necessitating action by the board of health, who employed large gangs of men to collect and bury the dead fish. Hundreds of barrels were disposed of in this way, the work lasting from Sunday afternoon through Monday and Tuesday when the tides permitted.

June 24.

GOOD HAULS OF HERRING.

Are Still Being Made Along the Maine Coast.

Several hundred barrels of herring were taken out of the cold storage plants on Central wharf, Portland, Friday, and the fishermen report the schools outside as large and numerous as ever. Both of the cold storage concerns are shipping a large proportion of the fish received to Boston, where it is used both for food and bait, as they each have nearly 2000 barrels in the freezers and wish to retain plenty of room for other kinds of fish. Large quantities of herring are also going into the freezers at the eastward, Boothbay Harbor and Port Clyde dealers, the McKinley Freezing company at McKinley and Lane & Libby at Vinalhaven having taken in thousands of barrels the past ten days. All danger of a bait famine the coming season would seem to be averted, and it is thought that the run of fish will last for a week longer.

According to the captains who have been coming into Portland from Georges banks, the dogfish have left those grounds for the most part. They have worked north and have made their presence felt on other grounds.

June 25.

TOOK MACKEREL OFF RACE POINT.

Two Crafts Marketed

Fares at "T" Wharf

Yesterday Afternoon.

Five Fine Trips in

From the Southward

This Forenoon.

As intimated in yesterday's Times that other crafts of the fleet struck mackerel to the southward, eight more fares have been landed at T wharf, Boston, since last report with approximately 63,000 fresh fish, in addition to 80 barrels of salt mackerel.

Quickly following the most welcome news of yesterday morning and the arrivals of four crafts at Newport, sch. Arthur James and Steamer Rollin E. Morse arrived at Boston in the afternoon, the former with 5500 fresh and five barrels of salt mackerel, and the latter with 5000 fresh mackerel. Both crafts readily disposed of their fares, the Arthur James coming here with her few salt fish.

The banner fare of this morning is that of sch. Nellie Dixon, Capt. James Ellis who hauled for 18,000 fresh mackerel in count. Capt. Ellis took his trip to the southward, while on the way home from the Cape Shore, and had 80 barrels of salt fish on board besides, which he was bringing here.

Schs. Aloha and Monarch reported yesterday to have taken mackerel are also in Boston, the former with 10,000 fresh mackerel and the latter, 11,000 fish. Other arrivals are schs. Victor, Capt. John W. McFarland, and Harmony, Capt. C. Wesley Farmer, with 7000 fresh mackerel each.

Sch. N. A. Rowe brought in 450 large fresh mackerel and a swordfish besides.

All the fresh fares were reported sold at 9 o'clock this morning with the exception of sch. Nellie Dixon. Large mackerel sold at 21 cents and mediums at 15 cents. Capt. Ellis was offered 18 cents on his fish.

Str. Rollin Morse and sch. Arthur James struck their fish off Race Point. This is rather an unusual locality to find mackerel so early, and seems a good indication that the fish are striking in on the shore.

He signalled the fisherman and requested that he be brought to Boston.

June 25.

A LIVING FISH NET.

Effective Way of Procuring Food by Natives of Oceanica.

A peculiar method of fishing is employed by the natives of certain of the islands of Oceanica, says the New York Herald.

At stated intervals about 200 of them will assemble on the beach, and all together plunge into the water, each carrying a branch of the coca palm.

At a given distance from the shore they will turn toward it, and form a compact half circle, each holding his palm branch perpendicularly in the water, thus forming a kind of seine.

The leader of the party gives a signal, and this living net approaches the shore gradually, in perfect order, driving before it a multitude of fishes. Surrounded by this living wall and caught in the coca palm branches many of the fishes are cast on the sands and others are killed with sticks.

MR. ALEXANDER HAD NO STROKE.

WAS TAKEN ILL AT WASHINGTON AND NOW RESTING AT WARNER, N. H.

There seems to have been a misunderstanding relative to the illness of A. B. Alexander, who at the present time is at Warner, N. H., with Mrs. Alexander.

Information received here today states that Mr. Alexander had no stroke but was taken ill at his home on June 2, at Washington, and continued indoors about a week. He was at his office at the Bureau of Fisheries, on June 10 and June 11, and went to Warner on the 12th, for a short vacation. The information further states that Mr. Alexander was not on crutches, neither had he any occasion to use them.

Mr. Alexander arrived in town here today and was happily greeted by his host of friends.

June 25.

SEA SERPENT IS ON DECK.

Neil Macleod of Long Island and George Speed of Peaks Island, who went out to Cod Ledge, eight miles off shore, from Portland, to pull their lobster traps, report seeing a sea monster fully 60 feet long.

The men, both of whom are reliable, say the creature opened its mouth four feet, but it did not attempt to trouble them. One went pretty close to it, but the other was afraid and kept at some distance.

Two other fishermen saw a monster a few days ago, they claim.

June 26.

HALIBUT FARES IN AT PORTLAND.

Three halibut fares were brought in to Portland Monday the largest being that of schooner Avalon of this port, which has been fishing at Le Have and Quereau Banks and all around the lot. She hauled for 24,000 pounds of halibut in addition to 10,000 pounds of salt cod, and has had a rather exciting trip, having been out about seven weeks from Gloucester. While on the banks during a dense fog she struck on Cape All Right Reef, off the Magdalene Islands. Her keel was knocked off, also her rudder, and she commenced leaking badly, being kept afloat with great difficulty, the crew working at the pumps night and day for more than 48 hours when they succeeded in getting the assistance of a tug boat which took them to North Sydney, C. B. On reaching there they found the dry dock broken down and were forced to wait for several days before they could haul out, it being eight days from the time the schooner struck before she finally was placed on the cradle, where she was repaired. The crew were pretty well fagged out by that time by their constant exertion at the pumps.

The other halibut fares arriving yesterday were brought in by the schooner Margaret of this city, which hauled for 10,000 pounds of halibut and 10,000 pounds of salt cod, and the local schooner Edmund F. Black, with 10,000 pounds of halibut, an equal amount of salt cod and 5,000 pounds of fresh fish. The latter schooner has been gone for about three weeks, fishing on the Le Have Banks, and her skipper, Capt. Orchard, reports a very disagreeable trip, fogs and windy weather prevailing a good part of the time.

Landed at Portland.

Sch. Thomas A. Cromwell arrived here this morning after disposing of her fare of 25,000 pounds of halibut, 11,000 pounds of fresh fish, and 12,000 pounds of salt cod.
